Sep 16, 2009 (DMEUROPE via COMTEX) -- VOD | Quote | Chart | News | PowerRating -- Vodafone and Spanish airlines Spanair have implemented a mobile boarding service at Spanish airports. The service enables passengers to receive their boarding pass via MMS directly on their mobile phone. The MMS contains a BiDi code with all the necessary information for boarding and flight details. Until now, passengers had to take their phone to a special check-in desk to print a paper boarding card. Now, service users will only be required to check in on Spanair's website or Wap page, at the Mobile Check-in section, enter their mobile phone number, and device model, after which they will receive their mobile boarding card in the form of a Bidi code. The service has been developed in partnership with mobile barcodes services provider Mobiqu.
